YOUTH AND COMMUNITY SERVICES COMMITTEE
Reporting to Public Session Tuesday, May 28, 2019

The Youth and Community Services Committee (YCSC) met on Tuesday, May 7, 2019 at 5:30 pm. In attendance were Trustees Bill Brassington (Chair), and Christine Cunningham, Assistant Superintendent Roberto Bombelli, DPAC representative Ashley Sandquist, and Assistant Superintendent Heather Hart and Managing Director of Safe and Caring Schools Sue Dorey for items 2 and 3.

1. Reports from Community Committees

Trustees who represent the Board on community committees updated the YCSC on items that would be of interest to the Board.

District Community Schools

Trustee Brassington reported that at the April District Community School Advisory and Coordinating Committee (DCSACC) meeting Director of Instruction Peter Dubinsky and Coordinator Community Education Sheri Brattston went through the Childcare Community Consultation process and collected feedback from the members. Also at this meeting, DCSACC passed the motion that the 2019/2020 Community School Budget be approved and that the Burnaby Board of Education and the City of Burnaby each be requested to include in their respective budgets, the amounts requested for the support and operation of community schools during the 2019/2020 school year. Additionally, a DCSACC executive for the coming year was elected.

Recommendation: THAT the Board of Education receive this information.

2. Mental Health Supports

Recent local and provincial data show a prevalence of mental disorders in children and youth, but also show that as the number of assets in a child's environment increases so does their sense of well-being. Key indicators of positive mental health include having an adult outside of the family whom youth feel comfortable asking for help, and if they feel connected to their school they are more likely to ask for support.

The district Mental Health Support team consists of the Safe and Caring Schools team, Mental Health Liaison Workers, District Counsellors, and the District Learning Support Services team that all come together to support students and families as well as oversee staff training and professional development. The district's Mental Health and Well-Being for All is a three-year plan with the following goals: compassionate and accepting learning environments, mental health literacy, and engaging through a culture of trust and collaboration.

Recommendation: THAT the Board of Education receive this information.

3. 2018 BC Adolescent Health Survey

The committee received an overview of the results and key findings of the 2018 Adolescent Health Survey (2018 BC AHS), conducted by the McCreary Centre Society.

The Adolescent Health Survey is the largest survey of its kind in Canada and provides the most comprehensive picture of the physical and emotional health of BC youth, including risk and protective factors. The results are used by government, school districts, health professionals and community organizations to assist in the planning and evaluation of services, policies and programs for youth.

The 2018 BC AHS was administered to over 38,000 public school students 12 to 19 years of age, across the province. The survey is administered every five years and the data provides some comparative results and trends from previous years. Some key findings were reported in the McCreary Provincial Report which included results of the 58 participating districts. The results from the survey show British Columbia youth come from increasingly diverse backgrounds, and that youth are generally making better choices about risk behaviours than they have in previous years.

Despite improvements, there are still a number of areas of concern. Students showed increased mental health concerns and most BC youth fall short of Canadian physical activity guidelines. The survey was also able to identify a number of protective factors for BC youth that contribute to general health and well-being. These included physical activity, good nutrition, getting at least nine hours of sleep per night, feeling safe at home, school and in their neighbourhood, participating in cultural activities, having supportive adults and peers, having a sense of competence and feeling listened to and valued.

The provincial report in its entirety, along with details regarding this initiative and project opportunities, can be found at the McCreary Centre Society website at www.mcs.bc.ca.

Next steps for the district include an analysis of the data provided by Burnaby students and, once compiled, staff will review findings and determine implications of prevention and intervention program planning.

Recommendation: THAT the Board of Education receive this information.
